

Aftercare Instructions: Heal, Peel, & Fade!

- (i) Your new tattoo will go through several phases during the next 10 days. Initially, your tattoo will be very dark, and they might even look bold, harsh, and thicker than you wanted. DO NOT BE ALARMED! This is normal. Remember the motto above: heal, peel, & fade! It is normal for your skin to be red and inflamed after your procedure. This should be significantly reduced by Day 3. This is because the pigment is still sitting on top of your skin, has not been absorbed, and it's going to stay this way until Day 7, give or take a day. Remember, your skin is in its healing process.
- (ii) By Day 7, your tattoo will start to look very dry, and the tattoo will begin flaking off. DO NOT PICK- keep those hands of yours away from your tattoo. Allow the tattoo to slough off naturally. If you are uncomfortable with the way that the dryness looks, or are finding your tattoo itchy, you can use a little bit of Aloe Vera gel (If you are allergic to aloe, please use rose water). If the itchiness still feels intolerable, you can pick up a cream called Bactine at your local drug store. Bactine is a topical first aid ointment with local anesthetic that will help with itching, and make the flakiness look less obvious.
- (iii) 30%-60% of the tattoo will be gone by day 10. This is normal. tattooing is a two-step process, and you will need to come back in 4-6 weeks from the day of your procedure for a touch up. Your results will last for up to 2 years – possibly longer if you have dry skin, and possibly less if you have very oily skin. There are a few other things that will affect your tattoo's appearance, and you can find that information on the second page.

A note about the healing process: Since everyone's body is different, everyone's healing process is different. The better you take care of yourself (eating healthy, resting, etc.), the better and faster your brows will heal. It is important not to drink or smoke (yes, this includes marijuana!) for the first 3 days after your procedure.

Days 1- 3:

Apply a thin layer of Bacitracin morning and night, for the first two days following your procedure. After Day 3 (your appointment date is Day 1), discontinue use of Bacitracin.

To Shower, or Not To Shower?

Before bathing, apply a layer of Bacitracin on your tattoo. This will prevent water from getting into your still-healing tattoo. As an extra precaution, tilt your head back in the shower rather than allowing the water to run down your face. You must also do this when you are washing your face. Gently remove the Bacitracin using a dry cloth, cotton suave or Kleenex. Bacitracin can be found at any drug store.

Post Procedure No-No's: Your First 10 Days

- (i) Do not put makeup on or fill in your brows until after Day 10. (Microblading only)
- (ii) Make sure you are using a clean pillow case.
- (iii) Do not tint your brows with henna or skin dyes. (Microblading only)
- (iv) Do not expose your tattoo excessive sunlight. Wear a hat if you are going to be in direct sunlight for an extended period of time.
- (v) No saunas, steam rooms, hot tubs, hot yoga – Anything that causes you to sweat may negatively affect your results. Sweat contains dirt, toxins, and bacteria. You do not want sweat to get into your still-healing tattoo!

- (vi) Do not go swimming in a chlorine pool, or submerge your head underwater.
- (vii) Do not rub, pick at, or scratch your tattoo. This will disrupt the healing process, and may remove the pigment before it is ready to come off, potentially leading to less that will look more like the ones you came in to get fixed.
- (viii) Do not use any products with AHA's (Alpha Hydroxy Acid), Vitamin A, Retinol, Glycolic acid, or lactic acids.
- (ix) Check the back of your face lotions and products. If they have any of the above ingredients in them, it is recommended that you do not use them anywhere near your eyebrows, as these can cause the lines of your tattoo to blur, and/or the color of your tattoo to change. Microblading only
- (x) Do not use any natural oils to aid in healing process. Natural oils (and synthetic oils) will pull out the pigment and cause the crisp lines to blur. Using such oils on your eyebrows, even after they are healed, will also have the same negative effect.
- (xi) Do not get Botox injections or facial filler injections until 2 months after your last brow appointment. Microblading only

After the first 10 days, and Touch-Up Appointment:

- (i) Always wear waterproof sunblock to prevent fading when exposed to direct sunlight for an extended period of time.
- (ii) Do not use any oils (natural or synthetic) on your eyebrows. This will cause the crisp lines to blur, and can also cause your tattoo's color to fade or and or turn slightly gray or red.
- (iii) You are not allowed to donate blood until one year has passed from your last procedure.
