

Working with Reputable Business Partners

Written by Bradley Fowler, MA

Working with a reputable business partner requires investigating the reputation of the potential partner. In business, conducting research on a potential partner, can easily be achieved by conducting simply on-line research. In fact, the following questions should be considered when investigating a potential service provider, you're interested in doing business with:

- How long has the partner been conducting business?
- What business associations is the potential partner a member of?
- Have there been any civil complaints filed against the potential partner?
- What type of news has been generated and posted on-line about the partner?
- Who owns the business?
- What experience does the business owner have?
- What standards does the business partner adhere to?

Allen Maintenance, Inc., has been providing professional cleaning services throughout the Eastern District of Michigan, for more than 25 years. Their business partnerships have encompassed top tier corporations, such as Vernors, Inc. and US Foods. Today, their business partnerships encompass prestige corporations such as LORD Construction, Inc., PepsiCo, and Bridge Stone.

Additionally, Allen Maintenance, Inc., is an active member of the ISSA Worldwide Cleaning Association. Being a member of this international elite association of cleaning standards, provides an educational platform that enables, Allen Maintenance, Inc. to model business practices and assure clients, they are being provided for by a corporation that believes in meeting industry standards.

Furthermore, Allen Maintenance, Inc., is an active member of the Better Business Bureau, with an A+ rating. To learn more about, Allen Maintenance, Inc., please be sure to conduct a thorough on-line investigation. Doing so will enable you to learn how high we rank in top search engines, such as Google, Bing, Yahoo!, and Ask.com. You will also discover links to press-releases and additional news about this, Lincoln Park, MI., business, who continues offering superior professional cleaning services that meets your immediate cleaning and sanitation needs.