OPEN DOOR DIALOGS

DOES THE PUZZLE PIECE OFFEND ANYONE?

Recently someone suggested that the puzzle piece, as a symbol for autism, suggests that an autistic individual is a puzzle to be solved, rather than a person to be accepted. Traditionally, the puzzle piece has been represented a way to understand and learn more about autism. What are your thoughts?

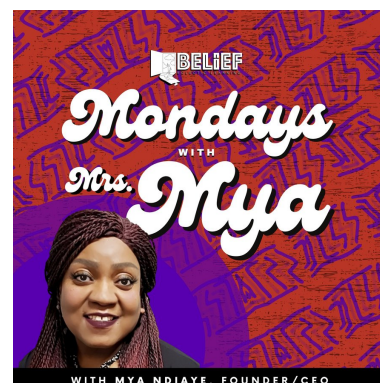

We'd love to see more dialog around this.

Email us and share your thoughts at media@opendoorliving.com.

CLINICIAN'S CORNER

CLINICIANS & COFFEE

Every first and third Saturday of the month B.E.L.I.E.F. offers a new hire onboarding orientation. This small group opportunity provides new hires with the skills needed to be successful here at B.E.L.I.E.F. The skills acquired will be used to understand many of our new systems such as Central Reach and its functions, as well as being able to successfully navigate through humanity. Each small group session allows new hires to learn about B.E.L.I.E.F.'s diverse culture, establish new relationships with other clinicians, gain an opportunity to win B.E.L.I.E.F. merchandise and other prizes, tour the clinic led by clinicians in various supervisory roles and lastly, enjoy complimentary breakfast and coffee.
