Re: Legislation bill to abolish Unconstitutional Civil Commitment in America

Mr. President,

Enclosed please find documents regarding my proposed bill and about Senators Joe Morrissey and Delaware Patrick Hope, both Democrats are co-sponsoring legislation that would end States' authority to civilly commit sex offenders.

We need the president to sign our legislation bill into law to counter civil commitment unconstitutional laws that are fundamentally unfair and violate the constitutional prohibition against punishing someone twice for the same crime.

Unfortunately, under President Trump and Obama's Presidential watch, I'd sent my proposal to be considered for their official executive authorization to abolish unconstitutional civil commitment laws, to punish people, because of what they might do. That's abhorrent to everything that our democracy and our criminal justice system believe in. Please see attached documents.

Please be advised that nothing has changed about ending the unfair law in our Country's Commitment for sex offenders. It just got worst and a new bill for legislation is now needed to be passed by the lawmakers in the Senate Judiciary Committee, House of Representatives' Congress and signed by the President, as my own case can show the merit behind abolishing civil commitment.

I would appreciate it if you will assist us to getting other lawmakers to have our new legislation bill ready to be heard in the Senate Judiciary and signed by your Presidential Executive office. Thank you, for your time, consideration and assistance in this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Russell Tinsley
