

Todd County Success Story: Wilson Farm

Sharon Wilson owns an organic farm in Todd County. In the last few years this traditional cattle farm has been transformed into a model organic vegetable and cattle farm. Recently, CAIP funding was utilized to add water facilities around the farm to minimize cattle travel for water. Locating these watering facilities for a site visit provided to be difficult since the grass height was the same as waters' height. This just proves that a properly managed organic cattle operation not only works but can thrive.
