Stewardship Reflection - 14th Sunday in Ordinary Time - July 8, 2018

"As the Lord spoke to me, the spirit entered me and set me on my feet, and I heard the one who was speaking say to me, 'Son of man, I am sending you...' Ezekiel 2:2-3
God asks each of us to do some special work for Him. He gives us the resources we need to do His work. However, do we listen to God when He calls? Do we get up on our feet and use our talent to do the work He asks of us? Remember, God doesn't call the equipped, he equips the called.

Thought of the Day :

Happy is the person who rejoices in the good that is done, whoever the author is, and who thus learns to give thanks. (André Beauchamp)

Jesus plays golf. He hits the ball. It goes up, lands in a tree, and goes down to the ground. There, a little rabbit takes it, and hops away. A fox catches the rabbit and takes him away. But in the sky a hawk sees the fox, dives and catches it. When the raptor has resumed altitude, the ball drops and lands in the hole.

Jesus then raises his head to heaven, and says:
"Dad, let me play alone."

People from here and elsewhere...

There is a popular saying: A prophet is not without honor save in his own country. Jesus experienced this difficult truth. Traveling through his place of origin (Nazareth and surroundings), Christ preached at the synagogue and healed people. Far from welcoming him, the people from his village began to taunt him. Who does he think he is? We know his father, mother and his relatives. And they took offense at him (Mk 6:3).

Our attitude towards exceptional people can be strange. It is as if their success somehow diminishes us. Probably, unconsciously, we also would like to experience fame, success, make money, or be a movie star, an artist or minister. Contemplating the good fortune of one of us, we may feel personally inadequate and become resentful and jealous.

We may have these feelings but how do we act toward new immigrants? They have arrived, adapted to our lifestyle, logged long hours, worked hard and have succeeded. Does that make us resentful and feel diminished? How is it that someone achieves such success and not be from here? We are struggling and endure difficult circumstances and we may feel that new people steal our jobs, win awards, and become stars!

In fact, we can become permanently dissatisfied with life in general. We can resent people from here though they come from here. We can also resent people who come from elsewhere because they come from elsewhere. It takes a lot of maturity to celebrate another's success. It seems to be even more difficult if the successful person brings new ideas and could be regarded as a prophet. Why is this? A prophet often upsets the status quo. A prophet may proclaim, denounce, and unmask. Even worse, this prophet sometimes speaks in the name of God, justice, and truth.

Each one of us should look in the mirror. Our anger against others is often the reaction to recognizing our own shortcomings. Happy are those who enjoy the good that happens in life, whether or not they initiated it. Happy are those who give thanks for someone else's good fortune. These are the wisest and best approaches to life.
